Anticipated Budget for Study Abroad

Please attach photocopies of your program description showing anticipated costs. As a matter of policy, all expenses should be education-related. Some programs will state one fee, while others will give a breakdown of costs. Normally, the Financial Aid Office will construct your budget from the official program costs, a standard travel allowance for the country where your program is located unless otherwise specified, and a standard personal expense/book allowance. For programs that do not include living expenses, please provide details and estimates of what you expect to spend on these expenses. Generally, we would expect the personal expense/book allowance to be similar to the one here at Harvard. (For 2008-2009, personal/books is $1,518 for one semester, $3,035 for the year.)
